This "Preparedness First" business is certainly making some shots of the girlies. Items gathered to random show:

A sixteen-year-old girl did the best shooting in the Beginners' Day event for women in Philadelphia. The young woman was Miss Leaphy C. Gough. She accompanies her father to the shoots every Saturday, and with a 20-gauge gun averages better than 76.

Five hundred and twenty-two women participated in the Beginners' Day events in 1915, but that number will be cast in the shade this year. Four hundred and ninety have aiready taken part, and,many clubs have still to send in their data.
